

TRAIN-THE-TRAINER WORKSHOP SERIES

on Culturally Responsive–Sustaining (CR–S) Education

EXPECTATIONS

Seeking educational leaders who are interested in enhancing their personal knowledge of culturally responsive teaching practices, and who will collaboratively work together to create a plan to turnkey this learning with their colleagues in 2024-2025.

SERIES OVERVIEW

The series will provide you with both a wide knowledge on culturally responsive education and the skills to support colleagues in their efforts to cultivate safe, affirming, and rigorous learning experiences for all students. Participants of previous workshops on the same topic said:

I think these sessions help keep me on track with implementation - not just learning something new and liking it, but actually motivating me to follow through!

I'm much more aware of how to include diversity and inclusivity into my teaching. I wish I would have had this training many, many years ago!

This is such a complicated issue and it was helpful to have more in depth discussion of these key terms. We were able to get below the surface.

I've been taking culturally responsive trainings but this is the first one where we get time to apply our learning.

I was able to learn how to breakdown and understand the CRS framework and incorporate it into my goals for teaching

HAVE QUESTIONS?

Contact Linda Perry
or Jen Batzing

INTERESTED?

Contact your building
principal to sign up before
October 2nd

DATES, TIMES, AND TOPICS

November 28, 8-11am

Foundations and Intro. to CR-S

January 18, 12:15-3:15

Unpacking Key Terms & Concepts

March 7, 12:15-3:15

Welcoming & Affirming Environments, High Expectations and Rigorous Instruction

April 11, 12:15-3:15

Inclusive Curriculum & Assessment, Ongoing Professional Learning

May 23, 12:15-3:15

Auditing Curriculum and Goal-Setting